Market Sets Records For Cattle Sales

The livestock market at Belle Glade continues to set records both from a sales standpoint and the quality of beef cattle, being sold, according to H. L. Speer, assistant county agent.

In a report to the County Commission this week, Speer said in the last week of March some 1,400 head of cattle were sold. He noted the quality of calves this year were better than a year ago — a fact which he said was brought about by better pasture conditions and greater use of blooded stock in building up herds.

Canal Point Span Opened For Dredge

The new highway bridge spanning the West Palm Beach Canal at Canal Point which was opened to traffic less than a year ago was closed Monday to prepare for the passage of Gabagan Construction Corporation's huge suction dredge, Fairlie, through the canal at the bridge into Lake Okeechobee.

The special work to allow clearance for the dredge and its supply barges down the canal at the bridge is being done by Cleary Brothers Construction Company the contractor who built the structure, with the owner of the dredge assuming all expenses. The middle section of the bridge, which is on hinges, has been anchored at a perpendicular position and the section adjoining on the north has been lifted out. The major job in this project is the removal of the concrete pier and seven concrete pilings on which the two sections rest then the replacement of the piling and the pier after the dredge and its barges have passed through.

It is expected the bridge will be closed at least two weeks. In the meantime traffic on SR 15, US 441 and Temp US 98 is being detoured one block east across the temporary one-way bridge that was built especially to take care of (continued on page 8)

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

Plans for inspection tour by county officials to survey all sites suggested as a location for a western Palm Beach County courthouse annex, were made by the County Commission this week.

The commission has called for suggestive locations for a building to house county offices and bring court house services nearer to Glades residents.

In connection with the building, which has tentatively been set for construction at the county-owned Pahokee Airport, the commission this week received resolutions from the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, Lions and Rotary Clubs, asking location of the proposed building in their communities.

Commissioner Kenneth Foster said he believed it would be wise for the commission to tour the suggested sites after all proposals were in, in an effort to determine which location would be best suitable and which location would fit into the proposed county-wide zoning plans.

In another action concerning county construction in the Glades area, the board approved an agreement which would make Federal funds available for construction of a health center at Pahokee. Application for funds was made by the commission some time ago but has been delayed until provisions for joint financing had been approved.

Commissioner Paul Rardin reported that reconstruction of Connors Highway had reached a stage where a prime coat of oil had been placed on half of the eight mile project.

The board instructed County Attorney Harry Johnston to draft necessary papers for tentative arrangements with George W. Simons, Jr., to write a county zoning law. Simons, described as "the man most qualified to do the job," will be retained by the county of the state legislative approves an enabling act to permit county zoning.

The board received a letter from Gov. LeRoy Collins, expressing appreciation for endorsement of a full-length turnpike by the Palm Beach County Commission.

Gov. Collins told the commission the bob-tailed turnpike would probably be in use by the end of next year and that the full length toll road could be completed in two years.

The board voted to call for bids for rewiring two buildings at the county home and hospital.

Heard that the commission's proposed legislative act would probably be introduced this week.

Took under advisement, a petition from Lake Worth and Lantana property owners, for zoning a portion of land located in the two communities.

An Attorney General's opinion on the legality of court house office space being furnished to private firms was being awaited by the County Commission this week.

The question was prompted by a recent disclosure that business firms—mostly title and abstract companies—were using the facilities of the court house to conduct private business.

J. Alex Arnette, circuit court clerk told the commission this week a total of 13 desks in his offices belonged to private firms and were manned by employees paid by the business firms.

Arnette, in an open letter read to the county commission, said the use of office space by title companies and attorneys, was a matter of custom and is being done in other Florida court houses.

He said he felt it the duty of the circuit court clerk to make records available to public inspection with "ease and comfort." He said public records are not allowed to be taken from the court house and that the use of such records is important to firms dealing with real estate transactions or court cases.

Arnette told the commission that he had often tried to determine how records could be made available without firms "taking up so much space," but that he had not been able to devise a better system.

Remodeling of the court house, Arnette said, would eliminate the crowded conditions in his office.

Meantime, the commission has written letters to ten other Florida counties to determine how other sections handle the problem.

Commissioner Kenneth Foster suggested that the State Attorney General be asked for an opinion "so that we will know that everything we are doing is being done right."

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Miller

Hello everybody! Living in a trunk and changing addresses many times in a year once seemed to Phyllis Kirk to be one of the pleasant sides of an actress' life. Now, after years of touring with stage shows and brief headquartering in both New York and Hollywood, Miss Kirk has decided an actress is happier if she puts down roots. She is going to put hers down in Hollywood and regard the film capital, for the rest of her life, as her home town. The yearning to settle down somewhere came over her, she said, when traveling to Hollywood. "I realized that I was looking forward to my arrival with real longing," said Phyllis. "I had never felt that way about any city before except Elizabeth, N. J., where I lived during my girlhood. Right then I had made up my mind that Hollywood would be my permanent home, the place to hang my clothes, and get my mail. When I was a stage struck youngster I lived with my parents and took the advantages of our comfortable home for granted. I thought then it would be fun to roam the world and call anyplace home where you hung your hat. Now I know that even actresses have the same instinctive desire as most people to put down roots, and—those who can't because of the demands of the profession are missing one of life's greatest satisfactions." See you at the movies—Mal.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Learn How to Pull Together

Saw a kid go by the Clarion office on a brand-new coaster wagon yesterday—and it reminded me of when my brother and I were about forty years younger.

Our folks weren't poor, but there wasn't enough to buy two wagons for Christmas. We got one between us. Dad made a rule that we each could have it for a week—but the boy with the wagon was responsible for keeping the kitchen wood-box filled.

Seemed a bargain to Bud and me—at first. But soon we discovered it was no more fun playing alone than working alone. It wasn't long before we were sharing the wagon in return for sharing the chores.

From where I sit, you can't enjoy a privilege yourself if you're going to deny it to others. There are some folks who want the right to enjoy their favorite beverage—but would deny me my right to an occasional glass of beer. I doubt if such people get their full "share" of happiness, though.

Hialeah Race Course Under New Owners

MIAMI — After fifteen years, ownership change hands at Hialeah Race Course last week when John C. Clark and Sam McCormick turned over the reins to Eugene Mori. It was reported that Mori paid $2,500,000 for the controlling stock of the nation's leading winter race course.

Everett Clay, former public relations director for the track who was promoted to secretary, said that Mori planned a continuation of the same policy, same staff and same operation.

Clay said the track would launch a beautification program this summer with new landscaping and 5,500 additional seats planned. As control of the track changed hands, it was announced that, for the sixth straight year, revenues were up. During 1955 over six million dollars were turned over to the state for distribution among Florida's counties.

Rogers Would Help U. S. Sugar Producers

WASHINGTON — Rep. Paul Rogers, along with other members of the House, introduced legislation designed to aid American domestic sugar producers who are under a severe handicap because of quota restrictions. The Rogers bill would increase the basic sugar quotas for domestic growers who are now not permitted to sell what they produce from authorized acreage.

Rogers pointed out that in his district, the U. S. Sugar Corporation at Clewiston has $7,000,000 worth of sugar that cannot be sold until 1956 under present quotas. This surplus was not produced from increased acreage but is the result of more efficient methods of production. The storage of this sugar has had an adverse effect upon the sugar industry and particularly on the farmers who are growing can in the Everglades area.

Rogers said that his proposed amendment to the Sugar Act would not harm foreign countries or reduce their quotas but would bring much needed relief to American mainland producers. He said the increase in quota to domestic producers would result from an increased demand for sugar on the part of the American Consumer.

Modern design places great emphasis on built-ins for bathrooms. Recessed hampers in the bath's ceramic tile walls, for instance, make for tidiness, save space, and are also a safety feature in families with children.

TAMPA — State Senator Paul Kickliter of Tampa would cut interest rates on small loans from 3½ percent per month to 2½ percent per month and plans to introduce a bill in the legislature to cut interest rates on small loans up to $300.

Senator Kickliter considers the present interest rate exorbitant and very difficult to pay off.

The present 3½ percent per month on small loans in Florida is one of the highest rates in the nation amounting to 42 percent a year. Interest rates for loans of over $300 are limited by law to 10 percent.

Processing Feed on the Farm . . . Automatic Way Saves Time and Money

Going only part way is better than going no where at all. That is the case with this cattle feeder and his one piece of feed processing equipment. What he does with it and what he might do to go beyond this stage is the subject of this on-the-farm story.

BY IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

In this instance, grain is grown on the farm and ground at a nearby mill. It is delivered to the farm in sacks and stored in a second-floor barn bin. The bin is connected to a mixer on the floor below by gravity-flow pipes. Operation is simple. Gates are opened in the pipes and ground grain drops into the mixer. The setup is not very automatic but it is a time and "back saver." This farmer figures that 12 dairy cows will need about 12 tons of compounded feed a year. Mixing that amount of feed by hand takes a lot of work. It can be done better and faster electrically. Records show that a ton of feed can be mixed in from 5 to 10 minutes at a cost of around 2 1/2 of a kilowatt hour of power.

Of course, he could go far beyond his present stage. Colleges of Agriculture in each of our 48 states have plans available for feed processing setups. Most power suppliers also can help. Here's one idea that works well for an Illinois farmer:

His grinder and mixer are connected in tandem—the delivery spout of the grinder empties into the hopper of the mixer. Whole grain drops by gravity from bins over the grinder and, when ground, flows into the mixer. A timer shuts off the machinery at a pre-determined period. His overhead bins are filled with a portable elevator.

Because the grinder-mixer setup is adjacent to the feeding area, mixed feed is spouted into carts and delivered to bunkers. If this were not so he could use a short conveyor and elevate the feed into a truck. One ingenious farmer who has a similar setup in his granary, uses the blower pipe of the grinder to move the feed back "upstairs" into a separate bin as a first step. Because the bin has slanting sides, it becomes a gigantic hopper from which feed flows to an enclosed electrically operated conveyor which moves it more than 100 feet to the barn. The conveyor is approximately 6 inches wide. The feed is delivered to a bin in the barn from where it flows through pipes into carts.

The University of Wisconsin has developed a feed processing unit which links up a corn crusher, hammer mill and mixer with elevators, blowers and storage bins to provide the farmer's favorite feeding rations automatically on a metered basis. Equipment needed costs around $2,300. It produces 100 pounds of feed for about 3 cents worth of electricity. The mixed ration is delivered to a V-bottom portable bin which is hauled to the barn where feed is mechanically unloaded into carts. The unit answers the farmer's fondest dreams for a push-button operation of this time-consuming chore.

Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday is January 17, was expert in handling money and his advice is as sound today as 200 years ago. All quotations here are from his booklet, "The Way To Wealth," published 1760.

Ben Franklin gives you some expert advice about Payroll Savings

"What though you have found no Treasure, nor has any rich Relation left you a legacy, Diligence is the Mother of Good Luck."

Have you ever wished you had $1,000, $5,000 or more—to buy a car, get a home, help you toward retirement? Today, it is actually easy to save such large sums! Because, today, you can have your saving done for you—with automatic diligence—through the Payroll Savings Plan.

"If you would have a faithful Servant, and one that you like, serve yourself."

Serving yourself means keeping some of the money you make each week and investing it, for yourself. Here's how: you just name a sum to your company's pay office—a few dollars or as much as you want. Each payday, that sum will be saved from your pay, before you get your check and invested for you in one of the world's finest investments, U. S. Series E Savings Bonds!

"Little Strokes fell great Oaks."

Because Savings Bonds earn good interest, they're soon worth more than the money you've invested in them. And how your savings mount up! Sign for as little as $5.00 a week and in 9 years, 8 months, you'll have $2,850 cash. In 19 years, 8 months, you'll have $6,872!

"One To-day is worth two To-morrows, and farther, Have you somewhat to do To-morrow, do it To-day."

For your own sake, don't put off joining the 8 million Americans who are making their dreams come true through Payroll Savings. Sign up for Payroll Savings today. Or, if you're self-employed, invest in Savings Bonds regularly where you bank. If you want your interest as current income, ask your banker about 3% Series H Bonds which pay interest semiannually by Treasury check.

MEASURE...

There's no end to the pleasure-full supply of really HOT water that your electric water heater delivers. It's clean, safe and thrifty. It heats your water, not your house... and best of all, it can be tucked away anywhere.

There's pleasure, too, in freeing yourself of old-fashioned cooking methods with a modern automatic, electric range. You'll find it's faster, cheaper and safer. And electric cooking is "WHITE-GLOVE" clean.

Now is the time to add labor-saving, pleasure-full servants to your home. You'll be amazed at how little cost to operate.
